

Preparation:

Cut out Henry's rectangle. Make sure you cut along the three black lines within the rectangle.

Lay the rectangle flat and fold over the central flap making a neat hinge and then fold it back.

Lift the sheet by the two short sides, with the flap away from you, and twist one of the L-shaped ends back on itself.

Lay the sheet flat again, and fold the flap down both ways to create a fold.

The flap should now be erect, with half of the cut-away on each side - which looks like an impossible Cut.

This is what you show your audience.

Ask them to explain it.
